Working across all 8 wards of the city, with a diverse community of youth, over 130 youth serving organizations, partner advocates and youth allies; the DC Alliance of Youth Advocates works every day to realize our vision for DC: A community where no young person is "at risk" and all young people have access to the opportunities they need to not only survive, but thrive.

"The dissolution of the DC Trust posed a real challenge to the children, youth and families of DC. Yet, DC-AYA's ability to quickly respond to a moment of crisis and engage both their members and government partners to find a solution was critical to ensuring that the thousands of kids who rely on afterschool and summer programs did not see any disruption in their services. This kind of collaborative problem-solving is integral to our work as a city and as a community to find the best solutions for our children, youth and families."

--Brienne K. Nadeau, Ward One Councilmember, Chair of the Committee on Human Services

EDUCATION & ENRICHMENT

We fought for over $418 million to provide "at-risk" students with the support they need during the school day; and ensure all young people and families can access the quality after school and summer programming they deserve and need to thrive.

Safe housing for over 4,000
youth

HOUSING STABILITY

We fought for nearly $15 million to help our most vulnerable children, youth and families get, and keep, safe and stable housing. Because everyone deserves a place to call home.

Education & employment
for over 17,000
youth

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

To provide job training and early workforce opportunities that we know are key to ensuring young people are prepared to succeed in DC's competitive labor market.
