About DCAYA

DCAYA was founded in 2004 on the premise that we can affect the greatest positive outcomes for DC children and youth when they have a voice in the policy, practice and funding decisions that impact them and their communities. Today we're a coalition of over 130 youth serving organizations, allies, and community partners working to ensure all children and youth have access to the supports and opportunities they need to not only survive, but thrive.

We accomplish this mission by engaging our community to identify barriers and opportunities, craft smart policy solutions, lead awareness and issue education campaigns, and, by providing unique opportunities for our members and our young people to act cohesively and drive systemic change.

Our Work

Informs - Real time information on issues that matter to youth, partners and policy makers

Engages – Policy advocacy training & technical assistance and coordinated advocacy campaigns

Elevates – Youth voice via the youth voice fellowship program

Acts to-

Ensure the over 40,000 youth who stand to benefit the most, can access quality out of school time programs

Remove every day barriers over 7,500 disconnected youth face as they try to get back on track at school and work

Provide safe and stable housing for the over 1,000 youth facing housing insecurity and homelessness

Strengthen access to early, paid work experiences for DC youth, particularly those who face systemic barriers to employment
